Dear Chris:

Many thanks for your letter of December 20th enclosing the memo Lithgow sent you on Atlantic Unity.

I received your letter upon my return from a week's holiday in the Nassau area. Previously I had also had a letter from Lithgow enclosing a copy of the "Declaration of Atlantic Unity". In replying to Lithgow I agreed with him that it is important that we continue to support and broaden the bases of international unity and cooperation as established by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

We are greatly enjoying the house and all goes well.

With very best wishes.

Faithfully,

Dear Chris:

Many thanks for your letter of December 20th enclosing the memo Lithgow sent you on Atlantic Unity.

I received your letter upon my return from a weeks ~~pleasant holiday season~~ in Nassau. Previously I had also had a letter from Lithgow enclosing a copy of the "Declaration of Atlantic Unity". In replying to Lithgow I agreed with him that it is important that we continue to support and broaden the bases of international unity and cooperation as established by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

~~Of course Lithgow did not send me the "Declaration"~~
~~in the same connotation in which he referred it to you,~~
~~but rather only to bring me up to date on the activities~~
~~of the International Committee of which he is a member.~~

I have not had an opportunity to talk to Foster on your proposal but I agree that the proposition is certainly well worth some serious consideration by those who chart the course.

We are greatly appreciative of the letter
with very best wishes.

+ all good will

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT
STATE HOUSE, BOSTON

Honorable Allen Dulles

Dear Allen:

Enclosed herewith is a memorandum from Lithgow Osborne which is, I think, worth some consideration. You undoubtedly have a copy of the Declaration itself with all the signers attached but if not, I will be glad to send it to you. It is an impressive document which has received a rather qualified endorsement from Foster and from the President. Its terms are so general and its objective so clearly desirable that I think perhaps Lith has a good point. One place where it might make difficulties within the GOP itself is in the continual lowering of tariff barriers and is something that the GOP might not want to stress at the present time.

I shall be greatly interested in getting your reaction and, if you happen to know it, Foster's as well. I can sense a real chance to put our Democratic friends on the defensive.

With warmest regards.

As ever,

CAH/e

MEMORANDUM

Subject: If I were a Republican

The Administration's hope that bi-partisanship can be achieved in foreign policy is entirely understandable.

However, that hope will never be realized by standing pat and declaring that the U.S. position has not deteriorated and that the Russians are not, at present, carrying the ball for important yardage. There is too much evidence to the contrary.

What the Administration should seek is some bold new course which the Democrats will be compelled to accept. Also, of course, as a matter of consistency and common sense, one which strengthens the Western Alliance.

Can there be such a policy?

There is such a policy, ready made, and signed and sealed by the country's leading Democrats including Messrs. Truman, Stevenson, Harriman, Kefauver, Marshall, Byrnes, Clayton and Lehman.

I refer to "The Declaration of Atlantic Unity" which is even more valid today than when it was issued 14 months ago.

It was signed also, of course, by leading Republicans - politicians, businessmen and educators.

If the Administration now adopts the Declaration as official policy, the Democrats will be forced to accept it (or eat their own signatures) and any Democratic attacks on foreign policy will be that much less effective.

Also, in view of the signatures to the Declaration from outside the U.S., there is every hope that its terms can be made acceptable to our Allies.

Therefore, if I were a Republican, I would find some means to place this proposed policy before Ike and Dulles forthwith. I would figure it would be good (a) for the country and (b) for the G.O.P.
